Former Member David Ganz has been elected a Corresponding Member of the Monumenta Germaniae Historica (http://www.mgh.de/mgh/mgh-allgemeines/), the oldest and most prestigious institution in Germany dedicated to the editing, publication, and analysis of medieval written documentation. The MGH was founded in 1819 and continues to publish fundamental editions and source critical studies of medieval sources. Ganz, an internationally recognized medievalist who is a recurring Visiting Professor of Paleography at Notre Dame University, joins emeritus Professor Giles Constable as Corresponding Member.
